EDUCATION THRU THE SEASONS

Fall opened, bells ding-donged, and classes were in session. Classes in session mean young minds in training.

But all wasn't study. In the Fall there was football; in the Winter, basketball; in the Spring, baseball; in the Summer—tennis, swimming, and re-unions with class-mates.

Yes, there was study and work plus fun and play. A formula, which, combined with the spirit of youth, equals an American education with many fond memories.

The Man at the Helm

The class of 1960 would like to silute the man who has helped to make Johnstonen High the fine school that it is. I man with outstanding ability, character, and much-needed patience, his friendly smile and willing cooperation are recognized by all. This gentleman, who not only has a keen sense of understanding but has a sincere desire to help those who have some problem, whether it be disciplinary or scholastic, can be found taking care of his duties in Office 211 at high school.

He has directed us through the many trials and tribulations, which so often befall high school stude its, with much success. The man who deserves this praise and mach more is Mr. Albert N. Rubis, the respected principal of Johnstown High School.

Miss Margaret A Stoll Secretary in 422

Administrators of 422

I final tribute, extended by the class of 1960, is in order for the administrators of 122, who are the assistant privipals, Dr. Raymond B. Morgan and Mr. Billmer A. Hoerr. These gentlemen are responsible for the tremendous job of scheduling the programs of all students at Johnstonen High School. Along with this task, they have many other major duties such as checking attendance, issuing admits and excusals, and helping students with program changes. The result of the fine work of these administrators has been a smooth-running school year, for both are well-qualified for their position.

Mr. Hoerr, in his first year as an assistant principal here, has assumed his duties and carried them out with admirable efficiency.

English Class in session -

Ye Olde to the Modern

The English language has developed in three definite stages — the Olde English of the Anglo-Saxon period, the Middle English of Geoffrey Chaucer, and finally our own Modern English era. Although many changes have been made since the days of the eloquent bard. William Shakespeare, modern English still retains much of the language of his plays. And because English is a living language, we can expect more changes in the future.

The English Department of Johnstown High School endeavors to acquaint students with these three stages of our language and the works produced in each, as well as to teach young people the fine points of grammar, spelling, written composition, and effective speaking through oral composition.

In the area of written composition, students try their hand at essays and creative writing, such as short stories and poetry. These projects promote self-expression and develop personality.

Mastering English is truly a challenge for juniors and seniors, but it is a challenge which can be met with the help of the competent instructors of the English Department.

Pathway to the Future

From the earliest cave man, to the winning of American independence, to events that happened yesterday—all are history. Man learns from past experiences of his fellowman.

Included in the History Department at Johnstown High School are courses in world history, ancient history. English history, American history, problems of democracy, and economics.

Students of ancient history are instructed in such happenings as the life of the early cave man and the Babylonian Empire.

The American history classes tell of happenings from America's fight for freedom to her addition of Hawan and Alaska as states.

World history classes learn of events of the world such as Admiral Perry's opening of Japan.

English history is the saga of Great Britain.

The structure of our country's government and her laws are taught and discussed by senior students in the POD classes.

Economics is the study of man's economy—how he earns money and how to spend it wisely.

The History Department presents man's past in order that he may plan a better future.

Secretaries Get Start in Commercial Department

The Commercial Department of Johnstown High School specializes in the development of office workers. Among those trained are taking secretaries, stenographers bookkeepers, typists saws clerks and accountants. The courses of instruction offered by this department include typing, shorthand, bookkeeping, clerical training, and selling.

Office Practice enacties the students to learn the operation of various machines tound in offices such as calculaters, ten key adding machines, and spirit duplicators

To encourage students in their work typing and shorthand awards are offered by the Gragg Company and the Commerc's Department. These awards are presented to those students who reach required speeds in typing and shorthand. They are valuable to the student when applying for jobs.

Mr Robert E Lynch head of the Commercial Department is in charge of the department awards and also the work program. This work program supplies students with valuable work experience by providing obs for those who mest certain qualifications. The knowledge gained through this program ands the students in their future positions.

Art and Music

Together we make beautiful music

Fine arts

Music, Art, Dramatics Produce Cultural-Minded Students

For the musical-minded students, Johnstown High School offers a wide assortment of or gamizations. Such groups as the Mixed Chorus the Band, the Orchestra, and Girls' Chorus are nightly such esstul under the direction of Mr. Richard O'Connor and Mr. Charies Aixey.

Those students with a keen interest in the Why's and How's of music find appreciation and music theory classes quite helpful.

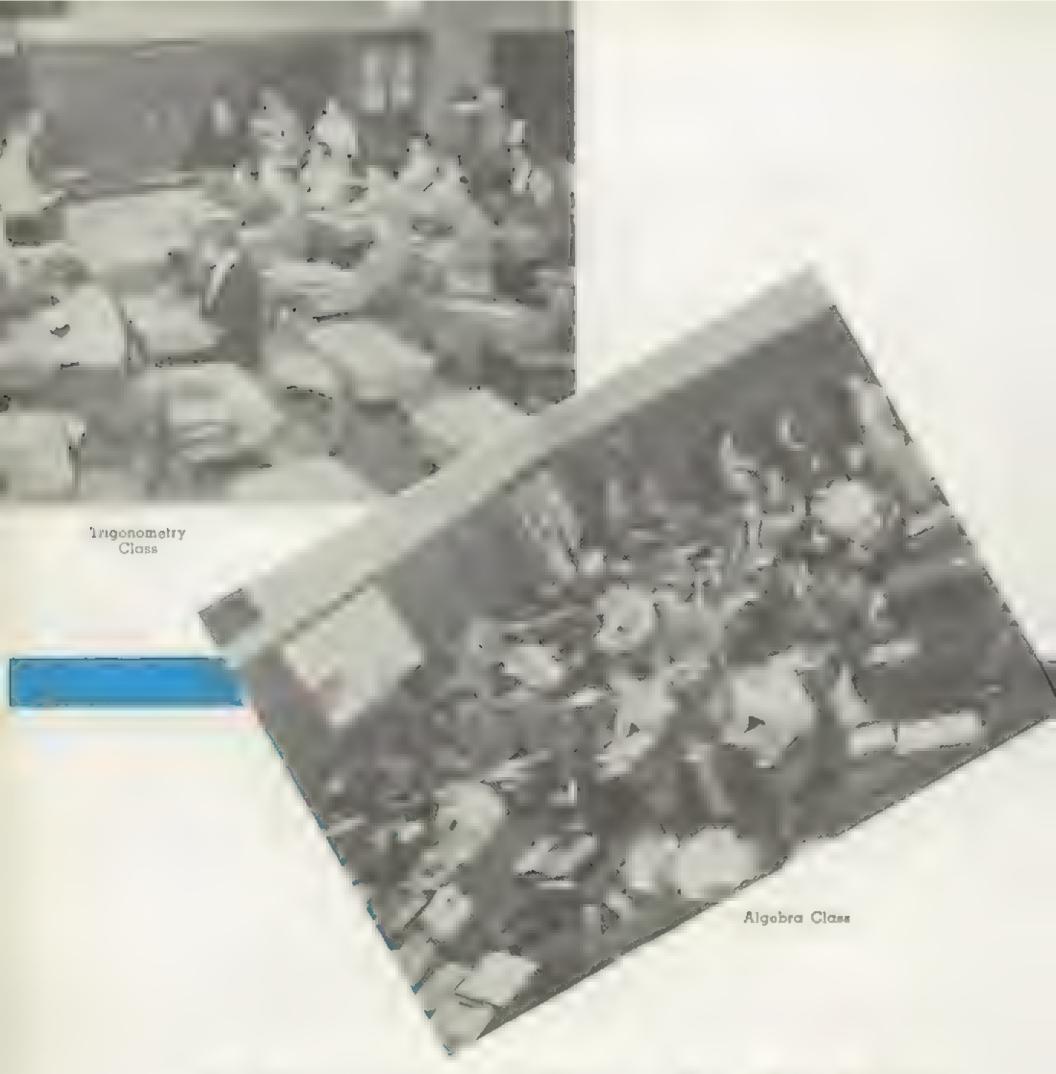

The Art Department under the supervision of Mrs Josephine Quigary covers both the ideal and practical phases or art. Students with irrist a talents are given the chance to prove themselves in initial not from oil painting to tooling handsome leather goods. Receiving a rich and its inding of irt in its true sense these artists learn to develop their talents to fullest advantage.

Students interested in acting find dramat is a quite en oyable held. Under the instruction of Miss Jour Puhal i, sudents learn the basic landament in of acting. Make-up costumes stage seiting play writing, and directing are an discussed in the classroom.

These Lights Cimera and Action student, an given the chance to display their talents in the many plays presented at Johnstown High School

Mathematics - Challenge for the Future

In the past tow years muthematics has come to be a most important key in the new space. From the biasting of rockets to the invention of new synthetic products much plays an important role in the realization of each

JHS is meeting this space are challenge head on in its Math Departmen. There are courses tor those pupils who will need only the fundamentals of mathematics, as well as for those who will need and want the more advanced math for engineering and co. go courses of scientific nature.

There are four time teachers in this department. Mr. Ralph G. man head of he dejertiment teaches geometry and general mith. Second year aliebra is truthly by Miss Thelma P. Fettern in and Mr. Edward Podrasky. Miss Fetterman also teaches triaonometry and sould geometry. The publis learn first year algebra from Mrs. He on Malvillo I. Indeed the thirdness was are beautiful. IHS willing straights meet the shallenge of the tuttre in mathematic.

Library Read All About It

In the middle of the third floor hall stands the book-filled room called the library. In here, one can read about everything from King Arthur to space rockets.

No student can deny that at one time or another he approached the desk of Miss Margo Tiley for advice whether for the completion of a special as gament or for requesting a book

There are over 8 000 books and 70 magazines clinging to the ways of our will known and popular reading room. If there is any problem in trying to locate any of these books a student may either consult M is Tilley, Mrs. Mary Casey or any of the intrary assistants who will be glad to help.

The library's magazine reference files date back five years. Every year tress 1 is turn with interesting facts for their searchers

Every period of every day the students are acquaring knowledge from the wide fill of material offered by the library.

Mrs Casey, who is the secretary in the library assets with all intrary work and aids students with assignments.

GHS Clothing Classes

The buzzing sound of girls voices and the directions of Mrs. James Haughton Johnstown High's clothing teacher, can be heard in the clothing classes of JHS. Mrs. Haughton sees that the basic fundamentals are taught to girls that are taking clothing for the first time. Girls who have had clothing before are taught new methods and ways to help them increase their knowledge of fabrics and materials. These girls start out with something simple and then go on to do more difficult work. There are many different styles and patterns to choose from to help the girls decide what they are going to make.

Mrs Haughton also gives advice on how to press clothes 1.1 patterns mark and cut materials, and how to sew them together.

Surely, with all these instructions and helpful advice, Johnstown High clothing classes will produce informed seamstresses.

Future Homemakers

It you should happen to walk down the corridor of JHS and smell the good aroma of food it would not take you long to find out that it is coming from the home economics classes

These classes are under the watchful supervision of Miss Norma Cliverio Miss Oliverio teaches these classes the proper care of tood how to distinguish grid soft meal, and how to cook and prepare a variety of good and tasty meals

These girls are also taught what makes up a balanced diet, how to make food look more appetizing, and the proper method of freezing toods. They are a cotaught how to count calones. Cooking is not the only essential that is learned. Learning to keep and clean house are also important. A thorough knowledge of cooking and homemaking is learned by the end of the school year.

"The way to a man's hear!

Language - Key to Understanding

Once upon a time a caveman said, "Ugh," and pointed to a tree. But because each tribe had a different sound for "tree," Unglook of the Wolf Tribe had to know another language to understand Glug of the Fox Tribe. Today, language is still a key to understanding, and so, it is a part of JHS's curriculum

Latin gives a strong background for the study of other languages and enables students to better understand English Besides studying grammar, Latin students learn mythology and Roman history through their reading

Through the rolling musical sound of Spanish, we can picture a sleepy Mexican peon taking a siesta, the excitement of a bull-fight, or the sparkle in the dark eyes of a lovely senorita

Because of its exactness and precision, French has long been the language of international diploma's. The culture of France is studied at JHS — from her cathedral towns to her poetry. French II students read Victor Hugo's "Les Miserables."

Onward and Upward

In the one aeronautical class, taught by Mr. Ralph Weigle, a basic knowledge of airplanes is taught. The course of study is divided into two semesters. During the first semester a knowledge of meterology, aerodynamics, and recognition of aircraft is gained. The remainder of the year is then devoted to plotting courses, map reading, and radio navigation. Films are also presented to help the students further their understanding of airplanes.

Since more and more emphasis is being put on missiles and rockets, Mr. Weigle's class devotes each Friday to oral reports and class discussion of this phase of aeronautics. The students taking this course develop a keen interest in aeronautics and related subjects. Many intend to make their future in this field.

Space Age Students On Their Way

432-1—Fire The Science Department has just launched another successful project among many this year.

In the world of tomorrow that is here today, scientists engineers and technicians find a wide open field. Education and training, however are prerequisites for gaining entrance. Many students at JHS are working with the fundamentals of missile development, electronics research, and even X-ray technology, in preparation for a career in one of the nimerous branches of science.

With such strong emphasis placed on creative science in education, our students are encouraged to work in research projects of their own. A vast array of equipment, much of it new ritiging from a Van de Graff electrostatic generator to hundreds of miles of copper wire is available for work in science.

A number of students participated in the second annual Johnstown Science Fair, held February 19 20 at the Cambria County War Memorial. As in the past years JHS was also represented at the Indiana and Penn State Science Fairs, as well as in the grandaaddy of Pennsylvania exhibits the Buhl Planetarium Science Fair.

Boys' Physical Education Class

Strong and able

At the beginning of every year our able gym teachers get out their whistles and begin the school year's session of exercise and physical fitness tests.

As the gym periods start, volleybail and baseball are the order of the day. Toward the end, tests are given involving serving and tapping of the volleyball along with the physical fitness tests. The main parts of these tests are sit-ups, chin ups, and the one hundred fifty yard shuttle run

As the basketbal, season comes in, the gym teachers get their basketballs out. The classes are divided up into teams and games begin. Basketball players, who are excused from gym, act as referees which are much needed, as the games usually are rather on the rough side. However, this only adds to the atmosphere that makes every gym class.

Toward the end of the basketball season the parailel bars, the gymnastics horse, and the wresting mats are laid out. After some practice, tests are given which are a true test of coordination and stamina.

With the coming of the end of the year, ping-pong badminton and shuttle board are introduced. Then materials are put away and equipment is taken home.

pervise the games.

The girls' gym is not only used for physical education classes, but for many other activities as well. The cheerleaders and the basketball team use the gym to practice their rigorous drills. The gym is also a gathering place for dances sponsored by the various clubs of the school.

Hands and Minds Produce

The Vocational Department of Johnstown High School has been organized to broaden educa tional opportunities for those students wishing to become tradesmen

Johnstown High has one of the largest vocational departmens in Prinsylvania Located at Johnstown High are the following shops. Plumbing Wood Print and Drafting However, due to the lack of space Cochran Junior High School houses the Sheet Metal Electric, Machine Auto Body, and the Auto Mechanic Shore. A of the shops have the most up-to-date equipment and each shop contains qualified instructors.

Fender Benders

Where is the best place to learn about the replan of dented fenders and other operations connected with auto bodies? Auto Body Shop, of course

Each year under the guidance of a well-trained instructor, Mr. Frank Krall, a number of boys are taught the finer points of auto body repair.

The year starts with instruction on now to operate the acetylene and oxy welting equipment. This project includes learning the different parts of the machinery such as the tanks, guages, tips, hoses, and the boys work on from there.

Students then learn the diterent panels of a car and, because there are 41 or 50, it takes time and patience

Later the boys learn how to bump out fenders and the techniques of painting a car. The painting is done in a special painting room with its own air system along with other equipment.

This instruction along with the personal experience gained by actually working on cars, makes the year for the boys in Auto Body Shop

Gutenberg's Disciples

Who are the hardest workers in JHS? Why the boys in the Print Shop, of course This year, expansion has been the theme. Mr. Kenneth Artice is now assisting our printing instructor, Mr. Joseph Coyle. Under the direction of two fine teachers, these young men have printed six editions of the "Centralizer."

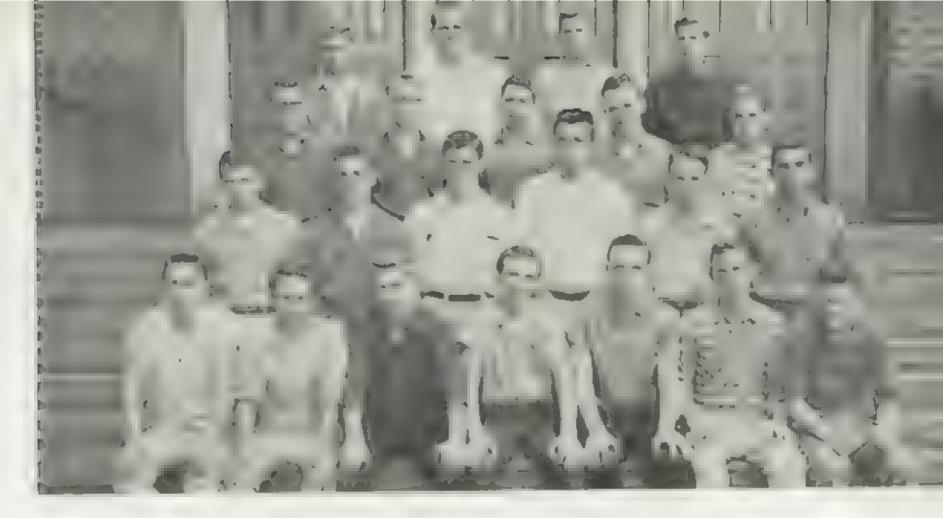

In addition to our school paper, the boys print posters, tickets, and programs for dances and other activities of the various school organizations. Other al school supplies such as admits and excuses are also done in the Print Shop

A new Challenge Proof Press was installed this fall, looking toward a complete offset type system

Our Print Shop, which was established in 1926, can point to an outstanding record. Graduates of JHS hold many important positions in the printing industry throughout the United States. The tellows in this year's shop will be no exception, and will certainly find a respected place in their chosen trade.

The Man Behind the Machines

Every day a group of boys exchange their penals for micrometers, don coverals and go about the complicated business of learning how to operate those machines commonly found in a Machine Shop. Some of these boys will become machinists for others the shop is a starting point for many different careers in today's he ivity mechanized business world.

The instructor in the Machine Shop is Mr William Allen. His method of teaching is learn by doing. Here, surrounded by machines, a boy is taught how to handle his equipment sately and efficiently. For sately instead of speed is the keynote of a successful Machine Shop.

The boys in this shop have rearned the proper use and care of scales, campers and micrometers. Some have mastered the art of reading and the laying out of blue prints so essential for the modern day much hist. They have learned how to cut stock and set up machines for operation with utmost safety.

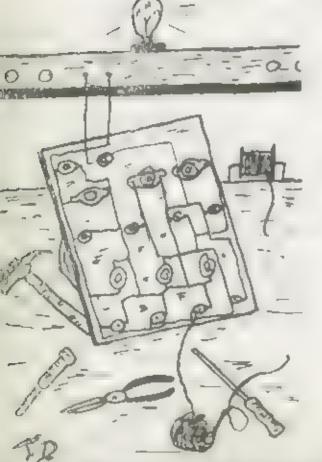

Electricity is an everyday marvel that most of us take for granted. There are some, however, who probe deeper into the 'whys' and 'wherefores' of circuits and currents. These are the fellows of the JHS Electric Shop, who learn their trade at Cochran under the guidance of Mr. Anthony Braidic.

During the year, the boys rewind generators and motors, wire circuits, repair household appliances, and learn the fundamentals of house witing A., their work has been directed toward properties them for the problems they will continually encounter as full-fledged electricians or appliance repairmen serving their community in a vital capacity.

Perhaps one day, one of these young men will be called upon to wire your home, repair your washing machine, or put your radio or television in working order. With the training they have had at JHS, you can be certain that the job will be well-done!

Auto Physicians at Work

The Auto Mechanic Shep, which is 10" red at Cochran Junior High gives the automechanic boys an opportunity to 10 in the fundamental procedures newssary for "operating" on a car

Under the direction of Mr Charles E Thomas and Mr Frank Meyers, these future grease monkeys will learn the elementary parts of in automobile their purpose and their action. In the process of learning, they will receive all the help necessary to give them a confident outlook into the auto mechanics tiers. From these instructors one will pick up the latest techniques available in how a complete these distributions.

When the term is completed the student will have a tering that he has rearly learned something, and with confidence will look toward the future.

This is the only school in the near which or rates an Auto Michanics Shop on such a large scale. The future into physicians know they have something to be proud of, and they use it to the best of their advantage.

Future Sheet Metal Workers Prepare

The Sheet Metal Shop has been organized at Johnstown High School to educate all students who wish to look forward to a career in the sheet metal field

Under the guidance of Mr Bruce Alter these future metal workers can expect to receive all of the up-to-date information available in this field

The students start out producing such items as trash cans, coal containers, incinerators, and dust pans. Before the term comes to a close these now experienced young men have learned to arch, bend, and even to weld different metals. By Mr. Alter's process of starting with the production of smaller projects, then advancing to the more complicated pieces of work, his students gain a wide and greater knowledge of the use of the various tools.

When finally the term ends, these students can proudly and confidently go after a job as a sheet metal apprentice.

Sanitation is Our Job

What would our life be like without plumbers? We wouldn't have running water, bathrooms, swimming pools, sanitary sewers. showers, and other necessary equipment for a healthy life

At Johnstown High School these problems were taken into consideration and the Plumbing Department was organized. The Plumbing Shop is located in Room 117 at Johnstown High.

Under the leadership of Mr. M. J. Miles, these young plumbers are not only taught the theory of plumbing but they are also taught how to draw plans for plumbing installations. Pipe fitting and soldering are included in this course.

These plumbers of tomorrow have an excellent chance of making good after graduation, for nearly fifty percent of the independent journeymen in this area are graduates of JHS. While this figure may seem high now, it will grow, and so will the need for these trained students.

Drafting Shop - Home of the J - Square Jockeys

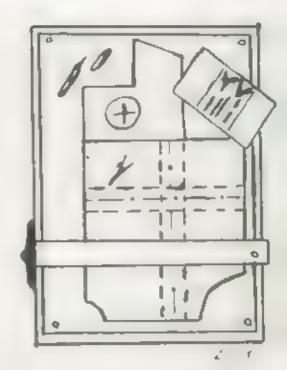

Surrounded by tilted tables and T-squares, the future draftsmen of America are learning the tindimentals of the drafting industry. Here the student masters the principles of the modern day draftsman

The instructor of the Drafting Shop this year was Mr. J. Ross Weaver, a new-comer to our high school. Mr. Weaver's keywords for a successful draftsman are 'a curary and completeness." These qualities, he points out, are necessary before a drawing can even be considered drafting.

Whenever a cabinet is to be built or a trophy case constructed, it is the responsibility of the Drafting Shop to make the necessary drawings for these projects. This shop does all this type of work for the entire school system.

The "T-square jockeys" are trained for many fields. Many professions have their basis in the drafting industry

The future and opportunities of a good draftsman are unlimited

Woodworkers of the Future

In the Wood Snop, under the supervision of Mr Robert J Anderson, boys learn the finer points of the woodworking trade.

Eith boy begins the course with a textbook. In this the parts and operations of woodworking mit anery at explained. Certain chapters are a signed much six weeks from which questions must be answered and reviewed.

After this this entered study. Mr. Anderson shows the boys operations of the machines him self and their projects are begun. All work is assign a and each boy must submit a draw to and a report of materials used for the job.

Another phase of ship life is the assigning of certain dates in regard to the care of the shop. Each boy is given a number, and every week a schedule of daties is put up with the number of the boys who will hand a them. In the way students learn shop neatness as well as craftsmanship.

Push That Pencil

Fourth period in Room 419 was no time for "loafin. At this time the journal sm class was in ression. The twenty-two seniors and two juniors could always be found hard at work, typing or editing copy. When passing 419, such directions as all articles have to be in," "revise, then type it up," and make it clever could be heard as the Centralizer" and "The Spectator" prepared "to go to press."

Along with awards for the newspaper and yearbook, many students won recognition in poetry. The creative writing urge was encouraged throughout the year, and the aim of the group was to produce the best yearbook ever.

Among the hardest at work during the year were Dwight Geha Editor of The Centralizer, who spent much time gathering ideas and proofreading copy and Katnie Edwards, Editor of The Spectator," who edited copy and then read the finished proof.

The many awards and citations earned for these publications show the spirit and skill of our enthusiastic young journalists.

Say Peaches!

Smile! Now hold it.

These are a few of the expressions that were heard while the pictures of the classes and clubs were being taken for the yearbook. The work of get ting all these pictures taken and keeping a record of each was the duty of the photography staff.

The boys on the staff were the assistants for Mr John Hesselbein, the photographer They were put in charge of carrying the photography equipment to the various rooms, holding the flashguns while the pictures were being snapped, and getting flashbulbs and firm when needed. The girls on the staff were then giving the difficult job of filing the pictures and keeping records of those already taken. If the pictures were not suitable, it was the staff's responsibility to have them taken again.

The adviser for this group is Mrs Margaret Bowes The editor was Catherine Geiser Sara Altstetter, Carol Hilbrecht. Carol Lingenfelter, Steve Paczolt, Tom Pittman, Edwin Trofino, and Edward Vizzini were the other members of the staff

Sketch This Picture

As one looks through the 1960 "Spectator,' the clever sketches catch one's eye. These sketches are started the beginning of the year, and preparations are made for the organization of the book.

Assignments were handed out to the members of the Art Staff, and they were soon knee deep in their work, turning out clever designs. All the assignments had to be completed by February when the "Spectator" goes to press.

The members of the Art Staff were chosen for their artistic ability. The group was composed of both seniors and juniors. Don Bloom and Sandra Hoyt were the co-editors of the staff.

However, the "Spectator was neither the beginning nor the end of these students" work, as is evidenced by the awards they won in the Scholastic Magazine Art contest

Further proof of their work can be seen by picking up a 'Centralizer' and looking at the cartoons drawn for the paper. Also much of their creative ability could be observed in the showcase on the main floor, where they presented regular displays five seniors formally become members of Touchstone Chapter of the National Honor Society, sponsored by Mrs. George Kocerko Kathre Edwards, Carol Chamiok, Pat Krzysko, and Jay Wonde explained to the audience the ideals for which the organization stands

What are these ideals on which membership is based? They are the qualities of an all-round studied and good character leadership scholarship, and service. A member's personal conduct must be above reproach and he should have a genuine regard for other people.

Scholarship is the basic requirement for membership. A member must attain a high B average and once accepted, maintain good grades

A member not only must receive an education he must give something in return. Honor Society mambers serve JHS by participating in various activities. One may play clarinet in the band, work is one of the offices, help in the library, or serve on Student Council.

The offices of many clubs and organizations are held by Honor Society members. They have prove their responsibility and are the leaders of the student body.

These Twenty are Jops

"To Kaaron Enomino," — three Greek words meaning, "We seek the beautiful." The TKE society, composed of twenty girls, has as their motto: "We seek the finest." The members of this honorary club were chosen for membership at the end of their junior year on the basis of scholarship, leadership, character, and personality.

This year the girls had an active program. A Halloween Dance, which the Key Club and T.K.E. sponsored, was their first big project. The girls used their profits from the fudge sales to provide for a needy family as their Easter project. For their own enjoyment they had various bowling and swimming parties. At the end of the year the members of this year's and next year's club had a picnic at Stoughton Lakes.

The officers this year were: President, Mina Mack; Vice-President, Kathie Edwards; Secretary, Betty O'Donnell; Treasurer, Helen Trimble

The two advisers for the club were Miss Margo Tilley and Miss Eimor Chuha.

Legislators of School Life

Every year under the direction of Mr Fred McLoota, the Johnstown High School Student Council carries out many worthwhile activities

One of the big projects of the year is the sponsoring and promoting of the Mr and Miss Personality Dance. Each of the school organizations selects a boy and a girl to represent their group or organization in the contest. On the big night each one in attendance at the dance votes for who they think should be Mr and Miss Personality of JHS. When the votes are counted the win ners are announced, and their picture published in the Tribune Democrat

Another of the Council's big projects is their Christmas project which this year included a visit to the rehabilitation center. Christmas carols were sung, refreshments served, and an evening of fun

A high honor was accorded our Student Council when they were selected to be host to the West Central Association of Student Councils enjoyed by all.

Readin', Ritin', and Rithmetic

The Future Teachers of America is one of our most worthwhile clubs here at Johnstown High School. This club is comprised of 128 members who plan to enter the teaching profession.

Mrs Helen Mulvehill, sponsor, has done much to make the F T A a success. She has been aided by the officers of the club: Nancy Wilcox, president, M.na Mack, vice-president, Erma Sremanak secretary, Paula McDowell; treasurer and Mary Ann Matolyak; historian.

This year the club was proud to claim Pat Gritzer, President of Central Western Pennsylvania Future Teachers Association, as one of its own members. Also this year, as in past years, a scholarship was given to a senior of the organization who was chosen through their scholastic standing and teachers' recommendations. The money for this scholarship was earned by fudge sales and a White Etephant Sale which proved to be a tremendous success.

Other projects such as student teachers panel discussion and a Teachers' Banquet provided tun and entertainment for all However, all the members agree the most worthwhile project of the year occurred December 16, when the F. T. A. held a Christmas party at the Christian Home and gave presents to each child.

OFFICERS — Josephine Paalilla, George Linieris and Mary Ciare Chorba

These are familiar stage directions, heard by the ambitious members of the National Thespians' Club. Behind the masks of comedy and tragedy lie the faces of many of our graduating classmates who will long be remembered for the fine entertainment they provided for others.

Under the direction of their adviser, Miss Joan Puhala, the Thespians have certainly had a busy and successful year. Several trips were taken to observe other actors at work, one to the Nixon Theatre in Pittsburgh and several to the Mountain Playhouse in Jennerstown. In addition to this, they presented skits for television on station WARD TV, took part in a Christmas program at the State Rehabilitation Center, presented the class play, attended a conference of National Thespians at Pennsy, vania State University and held their annual spring banquet.

Attnough they will no longer be able to participate in the activities of Thespians, the members of the class of 1960 will certainly take many fond memories of the JHS club with them

Key Club in action

The Key Club of Johnstown High School seeks to develop in Laive and leadership in its members through active and worthy service to school and community

This year the Key Club undertook an ambitious program to fultil, their objectives. In school, they ushered at football games, run a concession stand at home basketball games and wrestling matches, and participated in various activities as good school citizens. Conducting a blood donor campaign and packaging Christmas baskets for needy families were part of their fine community service work.

Last fall the club found it necessary to increase its membership because of a large number of interested and capable young men. In addition to new members, the Key Club has a new adviser, Mr. Ronald Rankin, who is assisting Mr. Ralph Gillman

The Key Club, as always, has done an outstanding job of preparing the leaders of tomorrow for the duties and responsibilities they will assume in the future as respected members of their community. These young men have certainly realized their motto—"WE BUILD"

Iraining and Practice, Quality Points of Good Drivers

"Turn right" 'brake, brake," 'take it easy." These are familiar words to beginners' ears in the Driver Training School. Most frequently, they are heard from instructors, Mr. Philip Gettys and Mr. Frank Weaver. To teach the student the proper way to drive is their aim. Good driving habits are formed with their direction. Once one has learned to do something the wrong way, he must relearn. It is more difficult to re-learn and correct bad habits than to learn correctly the first try. With guidance and practice, a student is taught the right way to handle an automobile.

By taking this course, students become well trained and a credit to their community. Training includes experience behind the wheel of a dual control car with essential classroom studies. Both are combined to make a good driver

With stress on the training of more careful and alert drivers, a program such as the one the Driver Training School offers is vital to raise driving standards

This is a chance that comes once in a lifetime and is most rewarding. A driver's license is a privilege and a good driver is worthy of this privilege.

Lift Every Voice and Sing

The Johnstown High School Mixed Chorus has completed another successful year of fine musical entertainment. Performances by the group were enjoyed by many

Mr Richard O'Connor directed the Mixed Chorus in the development of their musical talent Although they had only one practice weekly as a mixed chorus and two practices as a boys' chorus and girls' chorus, they performed magnificently

This year's schedule included an appearance at the Rehabilitation Center. They also gave concerts at the junior high schools and at Christmas and Thanksgiving assemblies. In the spring, the annual concert was anticipated by all

The spring musical put on by the members of the Mixed Chorus was "All in Favor" This comical skit dealt with a senior class' trip to Washington, D.C. At this particular time, the chorus showed not only their musical talent, but their dramatic ability as well

The chorus' first appearance this year took place at a JHS pep rally during the football season. The surprise appearance helped to promote the school spirit. They sang the Pep Song and the Johnstown High School Alma Mater.

Three cheers for the Mixed Chorus and Mr O Connor for the fine work done during the year

Rhythm, Melody, Harmony

Throughout the past year, the 90 members of the Girls Chorus have been taught rhythm melody, and harmony under the direction of Mr Charles I Alkey. These elements of music were expertly applied when the girls blended their voices at the annual Christmas Assembly. Among their selections were "Little Road to Bethiehem." "The Bell Carol" "Lullaby of Mary's Son," "Three Songs for Christmas," "Noel, Noel, Noel Bells are Ringing" and "Winter Wonderland". Their beautiful voices were well accented by their accomplished accompanist, Saundra Straver.

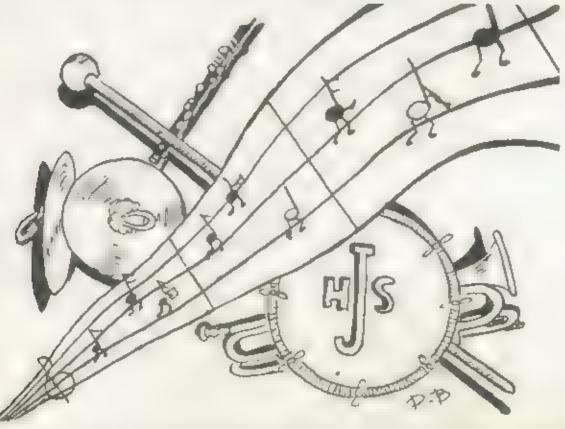

The Girls' Chorus was divided into two groups. Euch group met at different periods of the week but joined together for final rehearsal

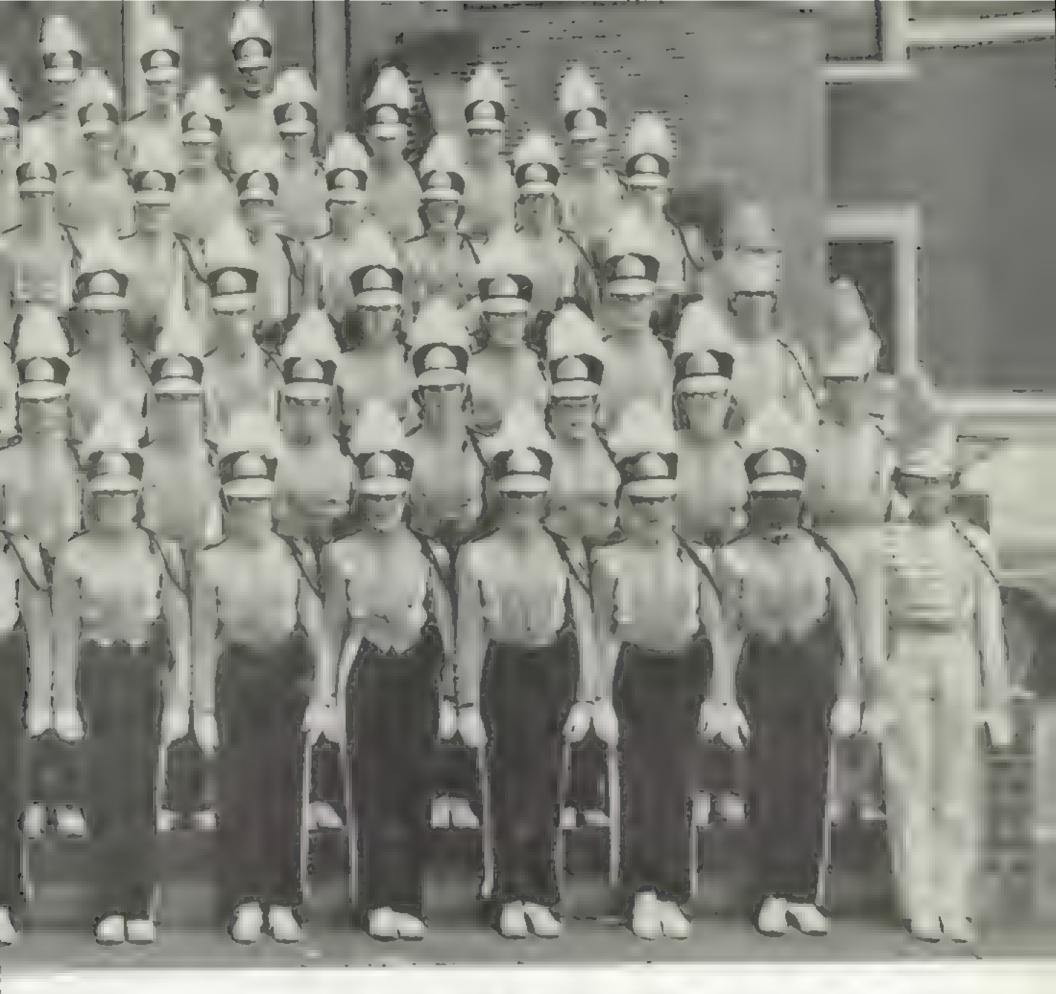

The chorus is open to any girl who enjoys singing and likes music. The tones produced at try-outs were rewarding enough for Mr. Arkey. These girls practiced hard to produce their selections as artistically as possible.

This year, as in the past, the Girls' Chorus concluded the year when they sang at the Baccalaureate services.

Strike Up the Band

Under the direction of Mr Charles I A.key, the J H S Band has completed another sea son of outstanding performance. Playing at football games home basketball games, and assemblies the band has been very active during the past year.

The 104 members of the J H S Band rehearsed two weeks in August at Cochran Junior High School, prior to the opening of football season. Constant practice is their key to success

The others of the band are President, Tom Zimmerman, Vice President, Bill Nycum, Secretary treasurer, Jane Kipling, and Historian, Janet Pisarchik Under able leadership, the band sponsored the Harvest Moon Dance and a picnic in June During the Christmas season the band donated a basket of food to the Christian Home

The outstanding event of the year was the band concert in early spring Careful planning and hard work make it an annual success.

The average student fails to realize the time and practice the J H S Band puts in to perfect their driving and formations. Whether at football games, assemblies or a holiday parade the J H S Band is tops in appearance and performance.

Music Hath Charms

The 30 members of the Johnstown High S hoof Orchestra know well the charms of mulic Directed by Mr. Richard W. O. Connor, the orchestra has presented many outstanding perform ances throughout the past year.

Orches to practice, were neld Monday and Wednesday of each week. Each practice was in preparation for a special torth-coming event. The orchestra plays annually at the Christman assembly and presents programs at the junior high schools.

The advent of spring means especially hard work and practice for the J.H.S. Orchestra because in March the orchestra accompanies the mixed chorus at the annual spring musical

Through hard work and practice members of the orchestra gain a better appreciation and understanding of music and its charms

Club Spurs Interest in Mathematics

This year's Mu Alpha Theta, under the direction of its sponsor Miss Thelma P. Fetterman, has been very active.

In October, they held their annual initation of new members. Eighteen J. H. S. students were admitted. The installation of the '59-'60 officers also took place at this time. The four newly-elected executives were as follows: President, Tom Pittman; Vice-President, David Ripple; Secretary, Helen Trimble, and Treasurer, Edwin Trofino.

Interesting activities were planned during the year. In the spring, the club had a banquet in the cafeteria. A trip to Pennsylvania State University was also carried out later in the

Designers of the Space age

The Johnstown High School Engineers' Club climbed the ladder of success in its quest for ideas toward bettering tomorrow's world. Under its fact-seeking supervisor, Mr. Edward Podrasky, the club far surpassed any accomplishments by its former pioneers

The group, which was originated only three years ago, has established a firm link with the Junior Engineers' Technical Society, Michigan State University. Visual guidance, information pamphlets, and project materials are just a few of the many aides sent our local chapter by the National organization

OFFICERS - Don Kimmel, Pat Pollino, and Edward Opdenhoff

Each member of the club was held responsible for his own personal program to be presented before the group throughout the year Slide rule discussion consumed the time of those who volunteered for additional meetings

A tri-school banquet, to which was invited budding engineers from Ferndale High School, Johnstown Catholic, and Johnstown Central, added the final touches to an activity filled season

Jemperature Jakers Jo-Be

They may not have taken any temperatures yet, but many of these girls will be taking temperatures soon. The Future Nurses Club of America is now under observation.

The F. N. A. started its '59-'60 season with a new Constitution. For the first time, applications had to be filled out and were either accepted or rejected. In November, the members started working at one of the four hospitals from the hours of four to six after school. These girls were easily recognized by their white blouses, dark skirts and white aprons as they worked on their assigned floors.

During the year the members participated in various activities. One of their early projects was the participation of members in work outlined by the Tuberculosis Association and the Red Cross. At Christmas the Nurses Club caroled at the hospitals and afterward had their Christmas party. The group climaxed the year with a mother-daughter banquet which was held in the school cafeteria.

This year, Miss Norma Oliverio became co-adviser, along with Mrs. Beatrice Shaffer for the Nurses' Club

Every Thursday evening, in room 427, the most scientifically minded students of J. H. S. gather for the weekly meeting of the Science Club. This club, under the direction of Mr. Ralph Weigle, aims to discover and develop any scientific talent that is member: may possess

Process Vivila , Til.

At each of the meetings various takes and projects are planned and discussed. One of the high, ghts of this years program was a talk given by Miss Sophia Moiles, former science teacher at J. H. S.

Our Science Club this year was represented at various state and regional science times. These were at Johnstown Indiana, and Penn State Many awards were received for outstanding work by the Johnstown High students

This years of cers were James Jacoby president Vivian Zadarla, vice president, Linda Nicosia secretary Lawrence Pelak treasurer, and Patrick Pellovand William Pavlick, program chairmen

Student Body Leaders Excel

Many times throughout the year problems concerning students, teachers, and the general westare of the school arise. The Student Council of J. H. S. is always on hand to lend a solution to these problems.

Under the capable leadership of President Jay Wonder and the other fine officers the home room representatives have ably and wisely guided our student body. Not to be content with school attains alone, however Student Council conducted a clothing drive, a canned tood collection, and sponsored a party at the State Rehabilitation Center during the Christmas season.

Mr and Miss Personalty of J. H. S. were selected at Sudent Council's annual Mr. and Miss Personalty Dance, which was held in April

Seniors Who Serve

At the beginning of this school year, the Y Teens of J. H. S. divided to become a junior and a senior club. Of the 319 members, 165 are senior Y-Teens.

The Y Teen organization is closely associated with Y W C A and as such is a service ctub. Some of the projects completed this year with Mrs Josephine Quigley and Miss Kathryn Long as co-sponsors and under the leadership of the similar president. Pat Hartnett were sending baskets of tood to needly persons at Thanksgiving and at Christmas. Members also participated in the Livy Day Parade.

Money to support the Club was raised by fudge sales, a record hop, and the annual dance

For pure entertainment there were swimming parties and a panel discussion followed by a pizza party.

Light blue and white beames were the new symbol of membership in the Y-Teens this year

OFFICERS-Loretta Young, Pat Hartnett, Elizabeth DeBarto, and Bonnie Roberts

Who are the Do-Gooders? Junior V-teens!

This year the Y-teens, a closely knit group of J. H. S. girls, grew to a membership of 319 girls. Because such a large number were juniors, Mrs. Josephine Quigley, sponsor, decided they deserved a club and officers of their own. A sponsor was needed to complete the organization and Miss Kathryn Long graciously volunteered to fall this position

The junior officers elected at a candle light service were:

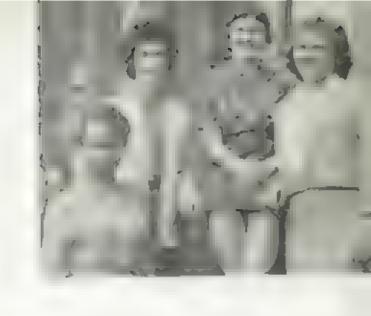

President, Carol Prepenalla, Secretary, Beverly Waterman, Treasurer Darla Owens and Inter-Club

Council Representative, Evelyn Jefferson.

Y teens is a service minded club and does much to help those less fortunate than themselves in the community. At Thank-qiving the uniors combined with their big sisters, the seniors and gave five baskets of food to needy tamilies. At Christmas a twenty five dollar gift and food certificate was given to a needy elderly couple.

In addition the organization tound time for fun and recreation which included a pizza party, a Can Hop and their immus, formus dance. The proceeds of this dance were used to pay the expenses of two girls, who will represent J. H. S. Y teens for a two-week summer conference at Thiel College.

Noise From the Boys

The Boys Pep Club was organized at J H S to promote school spirit and develop clean sportsmanship.

This year under the sponsorship of Mr. Daniel J. Shields and the leadership of its officers, the Boys' Pep Club had a successful and fun-filled year

Tucked under their beits are two awards—a Citation from the United Ceretical Paisey and a Commendation from the Community Chest.

For entertainment they sponsored the annual Winaber Bonlite, a Thanksgiving Dance an initiation dinner and other similar events. Buses were chartered by the boys on several important away games to give the team a boost.

This year, the constitution was revised to enable the future organization to work more in a contribution these has we look torward to a successful future.

Girls' Pep Club

VICTORY IS OURS TODAY!

The purpose of the Johnstown High School Girls Pep Club is to promote good sportemenship, and to give full support to the football baskerball and wrestling teams. The girls have shown great school spirit this year. They have proven this by helping the cheerleaders win first place in the annual cheerleading contest.

The new members were welcomed by a tormal welcoming party in the school caleteria where they were presented flowers. These girls were chosen because of their school spirit pep per sonality and character.

The Girls' Pep Club's many activities this year included a Christmas project for a needy tamily, the annual Prip Club Formal which was held on December 28 the promoting of tudge sales, and the chartering of buses for the away a mes. This club also turn he the many signs students see in the classrooms at the stadium and the gym.

The major project of the club, as in past years, was the local observance of International Printing Education Week, which was marked during the work of Benjamin Frank in a birthday. Heid January 17.23, the week-long observance was highlighted by the twenty-third annual banquet in the J. H. S. cafeteria on Thursday evening January 21. An exhibit of work done in the Print Shop was on display in accordance with the collebration. The exhibit was later shown at the Johnstown Science Fair.

This year's officers were Robert Rovan, president Ronald Hiss, vice president, Bruce Virgin secretary Peter Heinlein, assistant secretary, Arthur Ickes treasurer Joseph Kissel assistant treasurer, and Charles Bach, sergeant-at arms. Mr. Joseph Coyle and Mr. Kenneth Artice printing instructors, are the club advisers.

Projectionist Club

Progressive Education through Motion Pictures

The Projectionist Club is a unique organization lts purpose is strictly that of giving service to the school, and therefore, sponsors no parties or money making schemes.

The club is open to all students having a sincere interest in the mechanics of a movie projector and who wish to dedicate some of their spare time toward service to the student body. Under the direction of Mr. Wilmer Hoerr, the members learn the proper operation of a movie projector and are given the chance to use their knowledge several times during the school year. Their services are rendered in class rooms, the audion, and for special club meetings of various organizations.

As there are no regular scheduled meetings the members are called together only when there is a fitting date or important business to discuss.

Johnstown High School highly respects the members of the Projectionist Club for their outstanding service toward progressive education.

"SOME BOOKS ARE TO BE TASTED, OTHERS TO BE SWALLOWED, AND SOME TO BE DIGESTED."

FRANCIS BACON

One of the most helpful clubs at J H S is the Library Club. Twenty five above average students, who will naily donate their studies in order to assist the librarians in keeping the library in order, make up the membership. They do such odd jobs as put books away take library slips around to study halls, and check out books and magazines.

However these are not the only activities that this club is concerned with During the year they sponsored several tudge sites a basket party, designed to give aid to a needy family, and a book contest, the winner of which received a free book. The motto of the book contest was 'Feast Your Eyes and Win a Prize."

A., this and more was accomplished through the efforts of Miss Margaret Tilley, club sponsor and the aid of this year's officers. Mary Jo Hatcher president Paula Murton, vice president, Marilyn Bubalo, treasurer and Cindy Meilon secretary. Their efforts would have been wasted had it not been for the interest and spirit of the club, as a whole in these activities.

The Winning Habit

Heimets crished and arms clashed as the Trolans powered their way to a second straight under at diand united selson. Led by a fine defensive corps and a blessed with-talent backfield batallion to Min of Troy swept past fen opponents in winning tashion. A win over Altoona's powerful Mountain Lion trainy icea the cake in another unplemished sealon, under the heim of Coach Dave Hart.

The Blue and Black began the season in fine style with two sizable victories over two not sovizible of ponent. Coath Hart not satisfied with the brand of ball his beys were playing, whipped up some forceful peptalis as an added push. The goth is responsed rather slowly at first but reached their peak against an upen minded Monesson team a week prior to the Alloona contest. The rest is history and we all know who came out on top in the bate of the undetexted.

The blue and black and knights were retused an invitation to the WPIAL playous because of an accepted rule of scoring standards. Hats off to Coach Dave Hart, his coaching staff, and team for a terrific season.

ERIE EAST TROUNCED

The Trojans hopped on the winning band wagon in their first game of the 59 season with a 53 6 lashing of Erie East at the Point Stadium. The game, which was a one sided aftair all the way, served as a tune-up for the new season. Coach Hart's men, casting razzle-dazzle aside, used shear power to grind out the victory.

All of the starting backfield with the exception of Gene Buchan had a hand in he scoring John Kucenski countered twice, while single touchdowns were registerd by Woody Barnette and John Kamnikar.

John King, defensive standout for the home forces, tallied twice on beautiful deceptive scampers. Ron Miller who also added the extra points, crossed the goal line once at dil Ron Shorto, another halfback.

GERMANS BLITZED

The Trojans of Johnstown High School made short work of a spirited German Township team for their second victory of the year. The fans were treated to some fine playing by both teams as well as a few drawbacks in the new Trojan offense.

John King's 98-yard runback of a punt was one of the most beautiful runs witnessed. Captain Bernie Solich caught a pass from John Kamnikar for another Trojan score. This was the first time in a two-season span that an end was on the receiving end of a TD heave. Ron Miller and Kamnikar got the other scores, with the former garnering two six-pointers as well as a pair of conversions.

The game, which was interrupted repeatedly for assessments of penalties, eventually found the Troymen on the lead end of a 32-14 final.

HART-MEN EDGE KENSTERS

In their first taste of "AA" competition, the Men of Troy proved themselves equal to the task. The 13-6 victory shoved the Trojan's win skein to three straight for the season and fourteen triumphs without a loss in a two-year span.

New Ken scored first on a lateral play in the first stanza, the play covering five yards in all. The six-point lead was short-lived, however, as the Blue and Black struck back with resounding force moments later. Woody Barnette capped the drive with a 3-yard plunge and Ron Miller added the seventh point.

The two teams battled on even terms for more than two periods until Fred Pruitt grabbed an enemy lateral and raced twenty yards for the clincher.

TROJANS RAMBLE ALONG

The Johnstown High School Trojans turned back a classy but outmanned Windber Rambler team in a game which was played before a bi-partisan crowd of 10,000 fans

The encounter was a see-saw affair with the Trojans grinding out the final tally in the last chapter. The game was an alert defensive battle with Windber setting up both of their counters by defensive moves. John Kamnikar, Woody Barnette, and Eugene Buchan did the Trojan scoring with Barnette's coming on a beautiful pass from Kamnikar.

The Coaltowners lought back repeatedly, only to run out of steam in the final quarter and bow to their traditional rivals from the "Friendly City."

T-MEN SHELL DUKES

In a game which was nip and tuck for three periods, the Trojans of Coach Dave Hart topped the Little Dukes of Duquesne High, 26-0. The partisan crowd of onlookers sat quietly by as the Blue and Black managed only a six-pointer for their efforts in the first three stanzas. Gene Buchan rambled over from 18 yards out for the score.

An explosive fourth quarter, however, which turned the game into a rout, more than made up for the sluggish start. Woody Barnette, John King, and Buchan picked up the tallies, with Ron Miller converting twice.

TROJANS SLIP BY TIGERS

Coach Hart's winning machine was handed a scare by the winiess McKeesport Tigers in a hard fought battle on the enemy's grounds. They escaped defeat in the final five minutes of playing time and came out on the long end of a 14-7 final.

Lynn Hollman, fleet hallback for the visitors, and Ed Henderson Tiger titan were responsible for their teams initial counters. The play of the game however was made by Maurice Alvares, an aternate haltback, who carned the ball 69 yards for the deciding marker. When the dust cleared, the Tigers found themselves doomed with another of their frequent defeats.

NUMBER 18 PASSED

The Trojans of Johnstown High cruised along again and won their 18th straight football game over a tough Monesson squad. The Trojans looked very good on defense as the Greyhounds were unable to score and were thrust back repeatedly. The final statistics showed the Monesson team with a net 61 yards rushing and passing. Standouts on defense were Bruce Walton, Lou Gehosky, Lynn Holfman and John Knee.

Five blue and black-clad gridders had a hand in the scoring. Woody Barnette, "Huey" Buchan, Bernie Solich, and Johnny King hit paydirt, while Ron Miller booted two extra points. The final tally showed a 26-0 advantage.

LIONS ARE UPSET

The high and hearty Altoona Mountain Lions invaded Johnstown with a roar and left in a hush. The J. H. S. gradders sent Coach Earl Strohm's mountain men out on their ears, to the tune of 13-6

The contest was one quarter gone when the visitors posted the first score. A four-yard scamper by Gerald Riley netted the marker, but the PAT was wide.

A pair of touchdowns in the second half by Trojan end, Bernie Solich, more than made up for the Lions' counter, handing the Maroonmen their first defeat.

FINAL "AA" GAME IN HOPPER

The Johnstown High School Trojans thundered through their last WPIAL Conference game, with a 41-12 shallacking of Har-Brack

Woody Barnette got the Trojan attack under way with a spectacular 64 yard run on the second play from scrimmage. Moments later, the Trojan fans were on their feet again, as a pass from John King to Bruce Walton covered 42 yards and Buchan plunged over for the score.

The Trojan scoring was divided among four players, with King and Buchan getting two, and Ron Miller and Barnette completing the landslide. Miller also kicked five extra points.

CRUSHERS, LAST VICTIM

The Trojans added the finishing touches to an unblemished season by downing their cross-city rivals, Johnstown Catholic, 43-6. The victory was the 21st in succession for Coach Hart's blue and black clad gridders.

Woody Barnette started the fireworks with a 12-yard end sweep early in the first quarter. Held to this lone marker throughout the first period, the Troy-men errupted for three touchdowns in the second quarter, turning the contest into a rout. The Trojans amassed a 43-0 lead before the Crushers finally broke the ice.

"Irojans, Crush 'Em!"

This year that's exictly what our Trojan cheerleaders did. Not only did they cheer our undeteated lootball team, our basketball team, and the wrestling squad on to victory and honor, but they gained quite an honor for themselves. In November, they captured first place in the Sixteenth Annual Cheer leading Contest at the War Memorial with their newly written cheer. 'Trojans, Crush 'Em'.' This victory is easily understood, for at every event at which they cheered, they showed the spirit, pep and skill for which J. H. S. cheerleaders have always been known.

This year for the first time our snappy squad had a substitute cheerleader. Sue Stewart a senior was chosen for her pep and cheering ability. Sue showed what a good choice wus made when she ably took over for Loretta Lucas in the middle of the cheer contest.

The class of '60 salutes these girls for a job well done.

Down for the Count

Wrestling one of the fast st growing sports in the country, has found a home here at John: town High. Wresting has been lately picking up in attendance as well us manpower. This is probably due to the opportunity that this sport gives a boy to excel individually. Also a term indougle popularity factor for this sport is the fine record compiled by Coach Milan Systeman and Donaid Hartnett, his assistant.

Starting off the season, the Trolans were working on a 22 match winning streak which bey udited to as the season progressed. This kind of a winning season is getting to be a har fait Johnstown High.

At the season's beginning Coach Svitchan found that many of his former stars such as George Azar Jerry Davitch and Jim Boyd were missing due to having graduated. However having had such a strong second unit last season, he had materia, to the these gaps. Adam Weigle Tom Edwards Jild Page, George Joy and Lou Gchosky were returning lettermen to this year's squad. Gary Shings it was added to the unlimited division and with John Muchesko. Harrison Coleman. Litry Berkey. Ken Harkieroud. Dave Ambrose. John Knee, and the like capturing starting berths, the team was set to go—and went!

Irojan Ihin-Clads "Cinder Churners"

The ARC Trop in thin clads have completed another highly successful season. Upholding their past tradition, the team again came through with the blue black banner of Johnstown held high.

Every boy plays a decisive part in the completion of a successful year. Each did his best to insure a team victory.

The "cinder churners began an early season by sarting in March with Coach Pater Free the new head coach at the helm. Assisting Coach Fee this year were Coach Michael Forosisky, head field events coach and Coach Willard Fox, supervising the race and track events. The "mender of cuts and bruises this year was as usual, the ever popular Edward Stofko.

The track candidates had many different events from which to choose. The field events consist of all the weight shot-put discus and jump events. The track events take in all the distance events. Having so many events from which to choose, the boys were limited to three. This would insure the greatest number of boys the opportunity of enjoying this healthy and wholesome sport.

Over the Fence

The Tence busters of Coach Francis Mihalic once again biasted their way into the thick of things to rank as a top gun in the Tri County League. The perennial champs displayed their thin ents in teamwork fashion, a strict policy employed by Coach Mihalic and Assistant Coach Paul Slobozien.

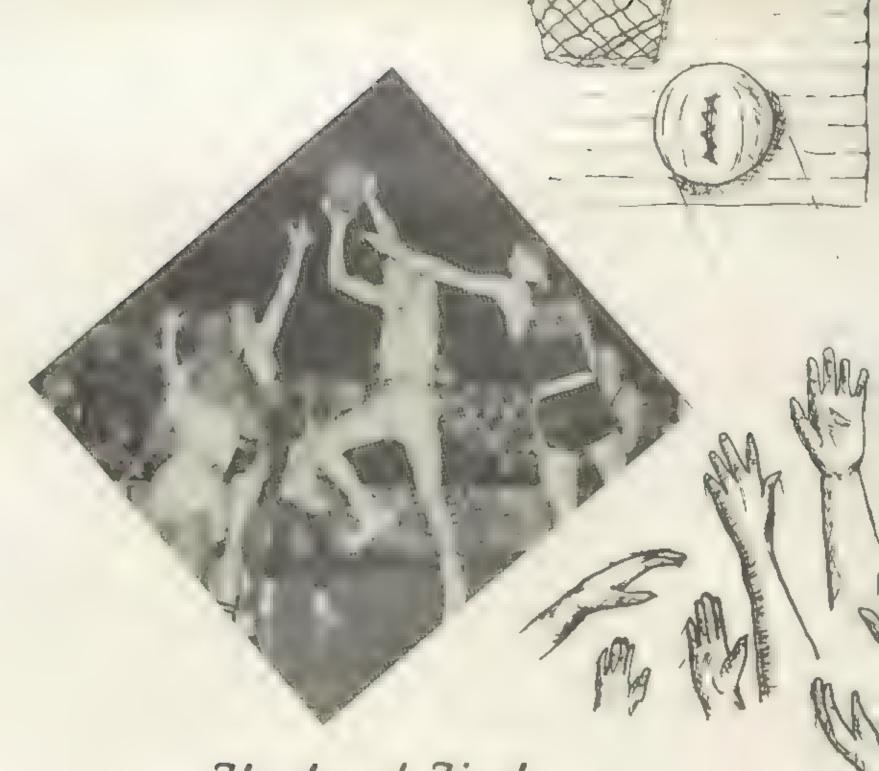

Absent from this year's team were standout regulars Rod George, George Azar, Dave Roman John Kmecak John Kupy it and Tom Faust. With these gaps to fill because of graduation. Coach Mihalic took the nucleus of returnees and built around it.

As usual we had a mound staff which was second to none. With Doug Chambers and Harry Stenger set to handle the catching chores, the hurlers had strong mental as well as physical support to back them. The keystone corner and the hot corner were up tor grabs at the start of the season, but soon were filled by talented diamond-men. First base was held down by Paul Litwalk, a sophomore A fleet-footed outfield corps added the finishing touches to the "go-go boys" of J. H. S

Through the Hoop

The Johnstown Trouns again frished the Basketball Compaign with a winning season. The Trouns under Coach Pau. Abele were a hot cold team most of the year—sometimes they looked territic and other times they couldn't find the range. Coach Abele during these cold spells, was constantly changing his starting lineup trying to find a starting five that would move.

The only campaigness to start all of the games were the team's leading scorer. Marty Toth, and his workhouse buddy Bruce Walton Switching around from the season's start were Anthony Marchetti. Al Janezie Jim Cale, Johnny King, and Fred Pruitt. Pete Poltrack who was harnessed by a knee injury at the start of the season played steady ball the remainder. He, along with Walton Janezie, and King, will form a strong nucleus for next year. Rounding out the "A" squad were Bill Peack, Ned Paviik, Bob Marchetti and John Patrick.

The Trojan B squad under Coach George Kochtka will also have some strong representatives to send to next years squad, as the little Trojans had a very successful year

Seated—Paul Zeisman, Joseph Greeley, Emery Whitlow, and John Koslin Standing—Harrison Coleman, Curtis Hardrick, Jack Daniel, George Joy, and Coach, Pete Fee

Harriers Successful

This year the Cross-Country Squad, coached by Mr. Pete Fee, once again brought glory to J. H. S. by their outstanding exploits

Opening the season with a win over Connellsville, they continued on and closed with six wins and no losses in dual-meet competition. They also downed Kiski and J. H. S.'s long rivals, Altoona and State College, at home and at Connellsville, State College, and Altoona away

The big accomplishment of the season came later, however, when the runners copped their second consecutive District 6 Championship, with Emery Whitlow hauling in the first place berth on the Highland Park Course in Altoona.

After this outstanding victory the Trojans competed in the state meet, held on the beautiful State College Golf Course at State College. However, with two runners hampered with shin splints, an ailment common among the running class, the Harriers had to settle for sixteenth place

One of the great honors accorded the Trojan runners was their being named the top squad in the nation in a poll taken early in the season

a Senior Boy's Diary

a Senior Girl's Diary

September 25 — it hasn't been too long since the old grind started and already I feel like a meatloaf. Seeing all my friends again is really great. The hall filled with excitement as soon as all the activities got underway, especially football. Every weekend, the game has been tops and the blue-and-black warriors haven't lost a game yet.

November 27 — Fall slips into winter with a Thanksgiving Dance sponsored by the Boy's Pep Club. Wow! What a date! (A bombshell, and blonde to boot.) By the way, the Trojan eleven went undefeated for the second consecutive season.

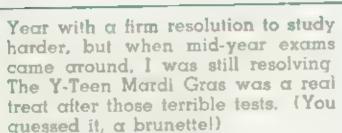

December 29 — Beginning their season in fine style, the J. H. S cagers and grapplers provided many exciting moments. Christmas vacation—the holiday season swirled into a lively tempo under the glittering decora ions of the Pep Club Formal (She was a redhead this time.)

January 30 — The old year ended in fine style and I began the New

April 23 -- The Mixed Chorus and Orchestra delightfully ushered in spring with the musical comedy, "All In Favor," The J. H. S. Band Concert was tops for entertainment, too.

May 14 — I went to our class play. "Papa Is All," last night. It was terrific. (So was my date!)

May 28 - My mind wandered out the window among the fresh green hillsides many times during those rugged final exams. The Senior Assembly was great and the Prom an adventure in eastasy — My date (the blonde) and I watched the sunlight fringe the mountains on our way home

June 10 - In the golden moments of my short life, I received my diploma, the final entry in my diary of senior life at Johnstown High School.

Sept. 9 — Scrumptious day! Those hallowed halls of ivy never looked better to me than today, when I returned to J. H. S. as a Senior.

Sept. 11 - The Trojans claimed their first victory tonight in a terrific game. I have a feeling that we're going to have another undefeated football season. (Woman's intuition.)

Oct. 5 - Just dying for a phone call, the kind having a 6 ft. 3 in., blonde flat-top, blue eyed, deliriously dreamy boy at the other end of the

Dec. 29 — Had a fabulous time at the Pep Club Formal tonight. Mother wasn't too enthusiastic when I arrived home at 2:15 A.M.

Jan. 20, 21, 22 — Mid term exams. What a brain washing!!

Jan. 29 - The Y-Teen's "Mardi Gras" was the most! So was my date!!

Mar. 18 - Just got back from the Mixed Chorus Spring Musical, "All in Favor." I didn't know my classmates had so much talent. Now, I'm really looking forward to the Spring Band Concert.

Apr. 19 - Just how is a girl supposed to keep her mind on school subjects when the spring fever bug bites? With all this beautiful weather, it is absolutely inhuman to expect home work to be finished

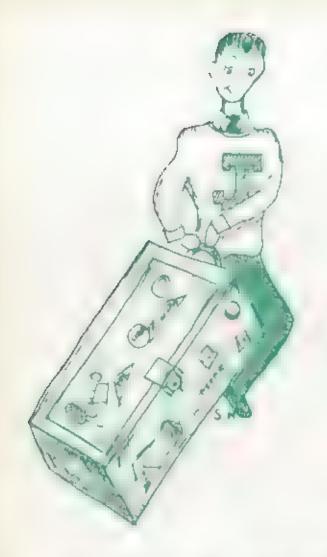

May 15 — Senior activities are under way. Our class play was, without a doubt, a raging success. Shortly to follow is our class assembly, and I'm proudly taking part.

June 7 — I can truly say that I've just had the dreamiest time of my life, The Prom. I'll never, never forget how wonderful everyone looked —the girls in their formals and the boys in their tuxedoes.

June 10 — It's hard to believe that my high school days are over. Tonight at Commencement exercises, I couldn't help thinking of the wonderful times that J. H. S. has given me and I can only hope that college will be half as wonderful as Johnstown High!

around the World

Contact! And away we go. A few hours ago (8:00 PM, June 10) we commenced, and we're going to keep on commencing. We're going around the world with eighty names. On board our sleek 707 is Eddie Brown at the controls, Tom "Sparks" Replogle at the radio and steward Bob Tice baside stewardess Jo Ann Moser. Traveling with me is Terry Singer, a hair fashion expert. Cliff Sharp, a millionaire who made all his money himself, and Gerald "Guns" Brilhart, America's Number Four private eye. Numbers 3, 2, and 1 are Carey Boyer, Charles Bach, and Russell Cox respectively.

Traveling in a private first-class compartment are three world-famous bird house architects, namely, Csaba Balazs, known nationally for his work in pastel parrot penthouses, Jack Koch, famous for his creation of the "gold-gilded" yellow-bellied sap suckers roost, and Larry Tennis, notorious for his purple peacock pen. We also have the star center of the South African Pygmy Little League basketball team, Ashley Hautz.

I am a quard in the halls of Johnstown High School. Perhaps you have noticed me standing straight and tall with my shoulders back my chest out and my stomach in Many times Don Kimmer, Richard Kellar and Dick Keifer are seen standing in front of me. I'm in command of a never-ending line of lower ranking guards. Our uniforms are dark green with a metallic luster at 1 our serial numbers are neatly inscribed across our chests. Perhaps you are worldering how I became officer in charge of all the other guards. Well, come and see me sometime and I il show you all my medals. They re plastered an over the inside of my coat by Maryann Matolijak, Marthu Makin and Elaine Marsh. Let me tell you right here and now that they were not easy to get either. I recrived three medals for acting by yord the citl of duty by offering to hold Ronald Gretok's and Mary Jo Hatcher's books and personal billiong has for them. My what a heavy load! I'm proud of the two I carned for holding my temper whenever some uncouth students threw gum and candy wrappers in my pockets and on top of my holmet while I was standing at alterition. Now, students, it's time for me to reveal my true identity. I am your locker.

Personality No. 2

Sara Altstetter '60

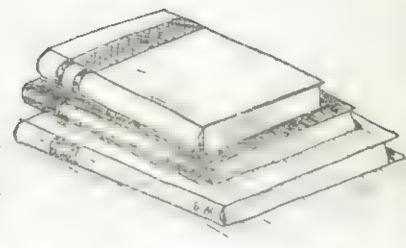

Im a pretty important fectow, if I do say so myself. I'll bet I'm the most noticed guy around I H S. In every classroom, curled and pony tailed heads turn toward my round, aloof face and siths of longing are heard. I get more at ention from the boys than any temale in the building. At my every word students scramble from their desks or maintain a hushed and expectant silence depending of course on what I say. I'm a regular Simon Legree, I crack the whip over students and teachers alike. On slaves. Hurry. Hurry. Get that theme finished it's due next period. Get those papers marked. Record those grades! Hurry. Teachers distince me because so often students pay more attention to me than to their lectures. I am present at every tootball and basketball game, urging the teams to hurry, nurry, make that point get that basket! Woe to them that disregard me. You see I am the clock found in every classroom and office at J. H. S. Belive me, I really direct the works.

Personality No. 3

Gladys Andrews '60

Standing here on the first floor this chilly October morning, I impatiently await the arrival of my friends. Inspecting myself, I make sure my green dress is neat and clean. A feeling of excitement passes through me as the demons of learning begin to arrive.

During the morning hours, I greet my many puls who keep me from being lowly. They harry to strate me especially before 8.25, at 3.08 and the lunch hour. My friends make a special effort to visit me at lunch time more than at any other time of the day. When we see each other, we exchange lokers. When teachers see these gitts in their classrooms, they get very angry at me. Sometimes, however, this anger wears thin then, they too enjoy my benefits.

On the other hand, I have been expelled from school because of my growing popularity. There are always those who simply won't tolerate me.

When I im accepted I hardly know what to do with in the altention I receive You see, I am the candy machine at Johnstown High School.

Personality No. 4

Kathie Edwards '60

Gosh, am I glad this day is over I fee, just like I've been put through some kind of oriental torture. These kids are really monsters. They throw me around step all over me and scribble on my face. And the things they say about me. You wouldn't be revent! They are always taking behind my back. I know I'm unpopular but if these budding young schol ars would give me more attention they would discover I am their best friend.

Of course all my days aren't this bad thank goodness. Of it my fair-weather friends never look at me the intire day. In fact, sometimes even a week goes by and no one bothers with me. Those are the times when I'm really happy. What did you say? On, I know I shouldn't tee, that way. I know it's my duty, my task in the to accept the rough handling the kds give me. It's my on to make sure my young friends learn a labout reading intin and labouted but sometimes I don't think I can take this number on 'rithmetic', but sometimes I don't think I can take this punishment any longer. All I'm trying to do is help them, but do they appreciate my efforts? NO!

Well, thanks a lot for listening to my problems. Here comes my owner now, so I GUESS I'll be going. I'll just have to accept my fate of being a textbook here at JHS

He began to reflect on his own lonely life, And thought of the joys of having a wife. He fell on his knees and with eyes that did shine, Wilbert Hagin said, "Dearest, wilt thou be mine?" Aggie Perkins is no longer a trusting old maid, She spends Wilbert's money; he makes lemonade!

OH! FOR A MEXICAN HAIRLESS!

Sara Altstetter '60

My long-haired black hound,
Quite often is found,
Bedeviled and bothered by fleas.
Whenever he scratches, ebony patches
Of canine curis float through the breeze.

There are hairs all around,
To the sink they are bound,
Where dog hairs just never should be,
They fly by the score, and provoke quite a roar,
When landing in Dad's cup of tea.

A Chihuahua I'll make him!
Of scratching I'll break him!
I'll shave him right down to his hide,
No more will his fuzz (as it quite often does).
On a freshly-cut grapefruit abide.

No more will it roam,
Make a mess of our home,
No more will I constantly sneeze,
No more long, black hairs on the overstuffed chairs,
And no more will puppy have fleas.

THE GREAT DUPE

Loretta Young '60

Reggie Van Snodgrass was quite a dashing chap. And though he loved his native land, he circled o'er the map. He won fair damsel's maiden hearts, And wooed young matrons from the marts.

Reggie Van Snodgrass, though quite a dashing chap, Was far from even handsome; he was an ugly sap. His ears were slightly dragging and his eyes too far apart, But with his golden tresses he stole each lady's heart.

Reggie Van Snodgrass, conceited and debonair, Would have never won Lolita if it were not for his hair. For she loved each strand and rangest and the worsh pred every our As she would a scarlet sapphire or a stately glistening pearl. But she's far from being happy in the smallest sort of way, For she daily sits and brushes Reggie's golden blond loupee

SCHOOL PERSONALITY Patrick Pollino

Why must people stare at me, I cannot stare them back They always throw their weight my way. As if I were a sack

They take their anger out on me, But I must stand my ground. They hit me hard and kick me some, When no one is ground.

I'm in the halls day after day, You see me all the time. I'd like to tell you, but I can't, These tortures are a crime.

You're just as bad as all the rest, A smart and childish mocker. How can you treat me cruel this way, When I am just a locker.

NOVEMBER

By Sara Alstetter '60

November's loveliness, so unpretentious, Needs no gaudy forests, Intensely garbed in fiery sun-colors, To draw the breath, to spur the heart.

Her beauty lies in crystal hoar-frost,

A spider web of scintillating mirrors,
In tarnished bronze of aged oak leaves,
White, white birch bark and dove-grey skies.

Intimate are her rising smoke tendrils,

Symbols of hearth fires; of plump fowl, savory puddings,

Symbol of heart fires; of love and togetherness,

Of families united, offenny thanks.

A JOURNEY

By Dwight Geha '60

DWIGHT GEHA

A lonely road crept up a desolate hill and taded into the evening sky. In the valley below, nch green fields had carpeted the way, A gay wildflower said, "Hello."

Weaving a pattern of rugged turns in soft pine needles. The traveler glimpses a glowing sun. And the weary, tired, battered old road knows The journey is done.

LOVE

Dolores Getzey '60

There is the love that mother's hold.

That is worth much more than earthly gold,

It strengthens all those hours of grief.

With loving thoughts and new belief.

There is the love that lovers share,
And all of us will venture there,
Some day we will know what lovers know,
Of how that love can grow and grow.

There is the love of The Great Supreme,
That helps us with our every dream,
When we are in doubt as what to do,
There is God's love to see us through

So there is love in every form,
That stays with us from the day we are born.
Though there is love that seems unkind,
Most love will give us peace of mind

GERALD LUGAR

A DAY

By Gerald Lugar '60

Virgin dawn greets the morning sky, Fingers of light burst softly by, Sun meets sky with radiant heart; Now dark night, pale moon depart.

God's light is here to feel and see The deeds of men for eternity: Bathed in sunbeams, living gold, One day in life for hands to hold. Old universe, yet ever new,
With evil deeds and good to do:
Tragic events on a comic scene,
A panorama on a life-size screen.

The dawn is gone, a day is done.

A moment in life, a battle won;

Up in the sky the stars appear,

So ends one day, one life, one year.

RAYS OF LIGHT

LOIS SCHOTNBERGER

Far across the meadows smooth,
The glory of the morning sun
Rises on the dew of earth,
With a radiance outshone by none.

And here and there her playful rays.

Stop to linger for awhile,

With some unseen but happy thing,

Upon which rests a lasting smile.

By Lois Schoenberger '60

Its enticing rays are motioning, too,
For us to come along.
And with the promise of happiness,
Is added a life of song.

Who wouldn't want to take
This life of dreams come true—
Unless he was a bigger fool,
Than those whose lives are blue.

THE MOUNTAINS

By David Bushko '60

DAVID BUSHKO

I see a mountain afar off;
He looks at me and seems to scoff
His peak is white; he's getting old,
A miner searches for precious gold.
The valley's flowers dress him with beauty,
While a shepherd stands his sheeply duty.
I believe of all of God's creations,
But none are as beautiful as a mountain's variations,

TIME Clare Ann Larrimer '60

Time — like a gust of wind, Here a moment — then gone, Passing at the end of day Then coming with the dawn

Time — sometimes a gentle friend Who helps us with our fears; Then softly fades, like the dying wind into the passing years.

Time — a very reckless thing, Moving fast, then slow; But in the joyous moments We have felt an inner glow.

Farewell from Class of '60

By Loretta Young '60

The time has come for parting,

And we all must say good-bye,

To the shimmering towering fortress,

Known as dear old Johnstown High.

We will cherish every moment,

That we have spent in her great realm,

And we'll look with admiration,

On her splendid glowing helm.

We have known her trials and triumphs,
And her joys and sorrows, too.

We will always keep her valor,
And to her motto will be true

May our spirits always echo,

From each room and every wall,
And our every act be counted,
As the greatest of them all.

Now it's farewell to Alma Mater.

It's time that we must part,

But we will always hold your memory,

In the portals of our heart.
